About Reims Aviation

The F406 is a world renowned light twin turboprop aircraft designed as an economic, flexible and multi-purpose solution in difficult operating conditions. The F406's main missions are maritime surveillance, internal security, anti-pollution measures and the transport of passengers (up to 12) and freight. REIMS AVIATION, the owner of the F406 and an aircraft builder since 1933, has produced more than 6,000 aircraft, including around a hundred F406s in passenger, freight and mission versions. The technical teams continuously integrate improvements that give it unequalled operational capabilities for an aircraft of this category. Unpressurised, it offers every possibility for customised modifications and profits from the systems integrator know-how of REIMS AVIATION.

REIMS AVIATION has been classified as an "Innovating Enterprise" by OSEO/ANVAR

REIMS AVIATION is quoted on the Alternext market of NYSE – Euronext Paris
Code ISIN (share): FR0010449199 - ALRAI
